

2017 Spring Term, Research Assistant

Environmental Justice Clinic

Visiting Clinical Professor of Law Marianne Engelman-Lado is searching for a research assistant, preferably a law student, to begin work immediately. Interest in work over the summer or in the fall also welcome. Responsibilities will include both legal and factual materials related to issues of environmental justice and will require reviewing and analyzing cases and information. Please submit a short statement of interest (no more than one page) and a resume to marianne.engelman-lado@yale.edu

Yale Law School is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity, Title IX employer